A BILL TO BE ENTITLED
AN ACT TO ESTABLISH THE STUDY COMMITTEE ON AUTOMATION AND THE WORKFORCE.

The General Assembly of North Carolina enacts:

SECTION 1. The General Assembly finds that:

- (1) Automation during the twentieth century resulted in new job opportunities for some, but it also rendered other jobs obsolete, affecting many low-income workers.
- (2) Continued automation into the twenty-first century has resulted in the further diminishment of employment opportunities for some workers, especially workers who lack computer skills or are disadvantaged by social inequities or the digital divide.
- (3) A comprehensive review of the current and future effects of automation on the State's workforce will provide government officials, and education and business leaders, with the information and insight necessary to guide the State toward mitigating negative effects of automation on workers. This is especially true in the case of low-income and minority workers.

SECTION 2.(a) Committee Established. – There is established the Study Committee on Automation and the Workforce (Committee). The Committee shall include 11 voting members, as follows:

- (1) Two persons representing labor organizations or nonprofit organizations engaged in workforce development efforts in this State, appointed by the Governor.

- (1) The current and potential future impact of the following automation technologies on the State's low-income workforce:
  - a. Artificial intelligence.
  - b. Industrial robotics.
  - c. Technologies that help customers serve themselves without the assistance of a human worker.
  - d. Word processing software, spreadsheet software, and other software or cloud computing services that reduce or eliminate the need for a human worker.
- (2) How factors such as educational opportunity gaps, geographical location, urban and rural disparities, social inequities, and income levels or any other relevant factors affect the displacement of low-income workers by automation particularly as they affect workers facing systemic barriers to economic opportunity, including but not limited to low-income, rural, and historically marginalized populations.
- (3) The education, training, and retraining requirements, and other skills development, that will be necessary to help low-income workers adapt to automation through the early, middle, and later years of employment to avoid or defer job displacement, in collaboration with institutions of higher education, community colleges, vocational training centers, and private-sector partners.
- (4) Recommend strategies for mitigating economic disruption and identifying new economic opportunities created by automation and artificial intelligence. The committee's recommendations shall include consideration of workforce impacts and potential growth within emerging industries projected to expand alongside these technologies, including clean energy, advanced manufacturing, technology services, and healthcare, where appropriate.

The Committee may review any other pertinent matter relevant to the effects of automation on the State's workforce.

SECTION 2.(d) Terms. – Except for the persons elected by the Committee, all appointing authorities shall make appointments to the Committee by October 1, 2025, and the terms of all members shall commence on October 1, 2025.
